

Abstract

The invention concerns a ceramic material, containing a mixture of a first ceramic material with a perovskite structure, containing lead, zirconium and titanium, and a second 5 ceramic material with a cryolite structure. The ceramic material is especially suitable for piezo-actuators.